NEXT MEETING:

11am – Sat. March 17, 2001

NEXT BANC COIN SHOW:

Sunday 10 June 9am – 4pm
Holiday Inn, Cromwell Bridge Road

* * * * * PRESIDENT'S PREAMBLE * * * * *

Our next meeting is at the March 2001 Suburban Washington/Baltimore Coin Show at the Baltimore Convention Center on Saturday 17 March at 1100 (room to be announced). The next BANC Coin Show at the Holiday Inn, Cromwell Bridge Rd., Baltimore Beltway Exit 29 is on Sunday 10 June 2001 9AM - 4PM. We always need workers. Once again there is not a new Reference enclosed with this issue of the Journal because we have no new material.

Since many of you collect Maryland medals, the recent Baltimore Raven successes have resulted in several companies issuing medals for both the AFC Championship win over the Oakland Raiders as well as the Super Bowl victory over the New York Giants. These offerings are not cheap but open up many possibilities for both sports related and Maryland medal collectors. Hopefully, if you purchased any of these items we will get to see them during an upcoming "show & tell". Also, Maryland TAMS has jumped on the celebration band wagon and will soon be issuing some elongated items/sets commemorating the great Super Bowl win over the Giants! It is about time somebody from Baltimore beat a New York team; goodness knows the O's can't seem to beat out the Yankees. You will hear more about these elongateds at the upcoming meeting in March.

It is also that time of year for dues to be paid. Hopefully, even if you are not an active member who can attend meetings, you believe that the Journal and References are reason enough to stay a member.

THE UNITED STATES CITIZENS DEFENSE CORPS

Submitted by: Jim Shipley

Baltimore was the Regional office for the Third Civilian Defense Region during World War II. Every now and then a collectable from this era of our history will surface. The following data, from the official planning guide will assist interested MD TAMS members to identify such collectibles. To me the small insignia items are fun to collect. Some of the specialties I've never seen while others appear with frequency. Note that CD was for CITIZENS DEFENSE not CIVIL DEFENSE.

Specifications for Insignia of Civilian Defense

Arm Band Specifications.—Durable, washable white cloth bands, 5 inches deep and 18 inches long. Insignia in center of band, 4 inches in diameter. Embroidered in two colors, blue and red on the white or die cut felt, stitched or permanently adhered. All insignia except basic "CD" are included for arm bands. State and Local Staff Corps arm bands differ from the foregoing as follows: The basic "CD" insigne, not including "U. S.," 4 inches in diameter, is to be attached to the arm band at the top edge, center. Initials, or State abbreviations such as S. C. for South Carolina, or Mass. for Massachusetts, are to appear below the basic "CD" insigne, such letters running in a horizontal line on the arm band. State designations are required only on the basic "CD" insigne for exclusive Staff Corps use. State designations may be applied on all other designs where State Defense Councils so decide but are not required by O. C. D.

Uniform Sleeve Insignia.—Same as arm bands except without white band. Should be sewn on upper left sleeve one inch below seam of coat. All insignia except basic "CD" are included in arm bands. State and local Staff Corps insignia differ from the foregoing as follows: The basic "CD" insigne, not including "U. S.," 4 inches in diameter, is to be supplemented with State initials or abbreviations below the basic insigne: The letters should be in a horizontal line centered below the bottom edge of the circle of the basic insigne. State designations are required only on the basic "CD" insigne for exclusive Staff Corps use. State designations may be applied on all other designs where State Defense Councils so decide, but are not required by O. C. D.

Collar and Cap Embroidered Ornaments.—One and one-fourth inches in diameter. Embroidered in red, white, and blue. Stitched or rolled edges. Only basic "CD" insignia to be worn as collar and cap ornaments. Collar ornaments to be worn on both lapels on uniforms. No State designations are to be added to uniform collar and cap ornaments. (This is to prevent confusion with the State staff insigne.)

Collar and Cap Metal Ornaments.—Same size and specifications as "Collar and Cap Embroidered Ornaments." Enameled in red, white, and blue. Three coats each color, hard fired.

Civilian-Dress Lapel Buttons.—Metal, one-half inch in diameter. Other specifications same as metal and collar and cap ornaments—all insignia include in civilian-dress lapel buttons, example, "Nurses Aide." State and Local Staff Corps buttons differ from the foregoing as follows: The basic "CD" insigne, not including "U. S.," one-half inch in diameter, is to be supplemented by State initials or abbreviations below the basic insigne; the letters should be in a horizontal line, centered below the bottom edge of the circle of the basic insigne. This should be on a separate piece of metal attached in the same manner, as "40 and 8," pendants are attached to the American Legion button. States desiring to add State designations may do so on all insignia except the basic "CD." (This will prevent confusion with the State staff insigne.)

Automobile Stickers and Plates.—The use of Civilian Defense emblems on automobiles is restricted to cars and trucks employed in the work of Civilian Defense. Emblems may be painted or made of enameled metal. None should be smaller than 4 inches nor greater

Basic Insigne

This basic insigne represents all civilian defense. Its use in any official form (except on flags or banners) is confined to enrolled civilian defense workers who have successfully completed prescribed training courses. Only such qualified persons may wear it in any "official" manner.

It is for all uniform collar and cap ornaments (except Nurses' Aides)—channeled on metal or embroidered on cloth—on automobile plates, on flags and banners—on civilian-dress lapel buttons. On steel or fire helmets it can be stenciled, front center.

When superimposed on the letters "U. S." it becomes the Federal Staff Insigne.

When shown immediately above a State designation it becomes the State (or local organization therein) Staff Insigne.

ARUNDEL MILLS "EXPERIENCE THE MILLS EFFECT"

Millard W. Hajek

On Sunday, December 31st (New Years Eve) my wife and I decided to "experience the mills effect" and visited the new Arundell Mills for a sight-seeing tour. At the same time, we also celebrated the Ravens "Festivus Maximus" by catching parts of their win over the Denver Broncos on the many TV sets scattered throughout the center. Arundel Mills is advertised as "Maryland's newest shopping, entertainment and dining destination with a dynamic mix featuring 200 retailers, unique restaurants and high-caliber entertainment venues." It "offers a convenient oval layout with eye-catching main streets and courtyards, themed neighborhoods that include giant interactive video screens." Divided into 5 neighborhoods, the one-mile oval provided some exercise as well as a sight-seeing tour and it proved to be quite rewarding for me by adding some additions to my exonomia collection which are illustrated below. We came upon a cent rolling machine in neighborhood 2 that added 4 new elongated cents to my collection and a game token from "Jillian's" in neighborhood 4.

Jillian's proved to be quite an experience but I'll leave the particulars up to you when you visit it. The first step for playing the games in the "Amazing Game Room" is to purchase a Player Card. The card is sold in the following denominations and point values.

$1 - 600 points

$10 - 7,000 points

$100 - 90,000 points

$5 - 3,000 points

$20 - 15,000 Points

(Advertised as the best value)

A fee of $1 is charged to activate the card which can be recharged and or purchased at recharger stations located throughout the Amazing Game Room. A $5 player Card is good for 20 tokens and each token has the name Jillian's on both the obverse and reverse. Each token is brass and 25 mm in diameter. Each game machine requires a set amount of points to play. Tickets, which were pale orange in color, are awarded and can be redeemed for prizes.

PHILLIPS PACKING CO. GETS SIGNAL HONOR

Good Housekeeping Bureau And Institute Gives Its Approval To Products Packed By Local Company And Authorizes Use Of Its Stamp On The Goods.

The Phillips Packing Company has been notified by the Good Housekeeping magazine that the Good Housekeeping Bureau and Institute has tested several of its products and finds them to meet the very exacting standard of requirements which is necessary before it will give its approval to such food products.

Good Housekeeping has been engaged for several years in the work of raising the standards of canned food products and for this purpose created a special department for investigating and testing the various kinds of canned goods and subjecting their contents to the most rigid analysis, and, before this department gives the stamp of its approval to an item, it must have met not only every requirement of the Pure Foods Laws as passed by the Congress of the United States but also the much more severe tests to which it is subjected in the laboratories of the Good Housekeeping Institute and its approval is looked upon by packers of food products, all over the country, as the greatest compliment that can be paid to their products.

It is natural that the Phillips Packing Company should feel very much elated over the fact that the Good Housekeeping Bureau and Institute should have found its products to be of such a high standard as to win this greatly coveted honor and it will also be a matter of pride to the people of this community to know that the products of this Cambridge concern have achieved this very great distinction. Aside from the honor which comes from such an award it means much to the company and to the community for with the return of better times it means a greater demand for these products and an increased return to all of those who are connected with it, the farmer, the laborer and everyone engaged in the many activities from the planting of the seed the harvesting of the crops, the canning of the products and their sales will be directly benefitted by this award which will place Cambridge canned products in the fore-front of the nation's products.

The letter announcing the decision with reference to the Phillips Delicious products was dated August 26th and said:

Phillips Packing Co., Inc.
Cambridge, Maryland.
Gentlemen:

"I have the following report to make on your products which have just recently been tested by Good Housekeeping Bureau and Institute. The following items have been approved:

Tomatoes, Tomato Soup, Pea Soup, Spaghetti, Peas, Pork and Beans.

On all of the above items you are authorized to use Serial No. 881.

Cordially yours,

GOOD HOUSEKEEPING

From the above it will be seen that the Phillips Packing Company Delicious products get the unqualified certificate of approval for quality than which there could be no higher honor.

The Institute is testing other products of the Phillips Packing Company's Delicious Canned goods and since the same careful methods are followed in packing them as in those that have been approved it is but natural to believe that these, too, will receive the stamp of approval.

The Captain Salem Avery I house was built c. 1860 on the banks of the West River in Shady Side, Maryland. Captain Avery, a Long Island fisherman, came to the area to make his living from the abundant waters of the Chesapeake Bay. He married Lucretia Weedon of Mayo, and they lived in this house for thirty years raising a large family. Many of their descendants still live in the area.

In the 1920's, a group of families from Washington, D.C., purchased the property to use as a fishing lodge and for water-related recreation. This group added the large addition which currently houses the great room and kitchen facilities. These families and their children and grandchildren enjoyed the property during the summers for some sixty years.

The Shady Side Rural Heritage Society, Inc., which was incorporated in 1985 as a non-profit historical and educational organization, purchased the three-quarter acre waterfront property in 1989. Since then the Society has restored the original section of the building to its 1860 appearance for use as a waterman's museum and the 1927 addition into a rental apartment and facilities for receptions and meetings. A boat shed was constructed in 1993, and in 1994 additional land was acquired to expand parking facilities and provide for future growth. In 1998 an extension was added to the building to provide space for a library and storage of archival materials. In these endeavors the Society has been assisted by grants from Anne Arundel County and the State of Maryland, and by loans from the Maryland Historical Trust and the Office of Housing and Community Development's Scattered Sites Program.
